The Annual State Rifle Matches

The annual State rifle matches of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, which closed Friday, August 8, on the State Rifle Range, at Mt. Gretna, Pa., were, in many respects, among the most successful held by the State. The scores were generally better than the average of past years and in almost every instance were better than in the same match in 1912. In the Brigade match the record was broken at all stages for teams of twelve men.

Another satisfactory feature was the more general distribution of the prizes than has been the rule in recent years. While it is right that one team should have all if it can win all, it is nevertheless a fact that for the best interests of rifle practice in the State it would be best if no team was able to win more than one trophy, not because the rules prevented, but because the other teams beat them out in competition.

In the Junior matches the Tenth Infantry team won three of the four trophies, the Engineers taking the other one. In the Senior matches the Eighth Infantry took two and the Tenth and Twelfth Infantry teams each one.

The Engineer Battalion, which has been coming fast in the past few years, were an element which had to be reckoned with this year in every match. They captured one Junior trophy and were to be found in the leading teams in every match. They won both of the Cavalry trophies from the cavalymen and are represented on the State team which was sent to Camp Perry to fight for the National Trophy. Four of the six men who composed their Senior team shot with sufficient strength to remain in the contest for the Governor's Medal after the final eliminations.

The Skirmish Match was won by the Eighth Regiment team. This was the only trophy which could be won finally, and as the Eighth had won it twice in previous competitions, it now becomes the personal property of that regiment. The new trophy will be a perpetual challenge trophy, as are all the other trophies now shot for in the State matches. This match has always been one of the most hotly contested and in the twenty years of its existence only two trophies have been necessary. The first skirmish cup was won finally by the Thirteenth Infantry, after eleven years of competition.

An interesting feature of the tour was the presence of Major General C. B. Dougherty, the donor of the Dougherty Trophy, to make the presentation to the winning team. In the five years of competition for the Dougherty trophy only the Second and Third Brigades have held it.

The brigade trophies were as evenly distributed as it is possible to distribute them, the First Brigade winning the Brigade Match, the Second Brigade the Dougherty Match and the Third Brigade the Long Range Match. The other two brigade teams shot well but could not land a winner.

A new State champion appeared this year in the person of Sergeant Cleveland A. Stoops, of Company C, Eighth Infantry, located at Chambersburg, who scored 231 point out of a possible 250. He is the first member of the Eighth to win the title.

SOME CURSORY OBSERVATIONS FOR THE CONSIDERATION OF TROOP "H," N. G. P., ON VACCINATION OR IMMUNIZATION AGAINST TYPHOID FEVER.

Presented by C. C. Wiley, Major and Brigade Surgeon, Second Brigade, N. G. P.

Typhoid vaccine is prepared by a cultivation of the typhoid bacillus engaged in a physiologic salt solution with a preservative Tri-organisms were destroyed, offered an effective preventive without any ill effects—and its introduction since 1899 has spread and is now universally used in the armies, the navies, marine service, and organized militia throughout the world, and since by reason of increased population and water contamination as a consequence, it offers the only practical preventive, and I take it will eventually become as general in adoption as vaccination against smallpox and practically effect the disappearance of typhoid fever throughout the world, as it has already worked wonders in India, Asia, Japan, the English possessions and the United States. Major Russell, of the United States Army, has shown that out of 82,000 soldiers vaccinated, but four were taken with typhoid fever. Either in barracks, camps, mobilization, or field service. In the Spanish-American War—in four months—about 20,000 cases of typhoid fever developed with 1,500 deaths. This, of course, was preliminary to universal vaccination, which is now obligatory in all army service.

All soldiers, sailors, students, nurses, internes and persons removing from pure water districts to populous communities, in fact every person from ten to forty years of age should avail themselves of typhoid prophylactic treatment or immunization.

The procedure or technique now generally adopted and advised consists of simple precautionary measures of asepsis, by washing the skin thoroughly over the deltoid muscle, painting with iodine, and injecting 500,000,000 bacilli, afterwards applying collodium where the resol added of a 0.25 per cent. strength being standardized by a careful count of baccilli in suspension after which the organisms are killed by heat.

That typhoid prophylaxis, or anti-typhoid vaccination by inoculation is perfectly harmless under proper precautionary procedures and that it reduces morbidity at least 84 per cent. and mortality 90 per cent.—there can be no further question, as its efficacy and power of prevention have been fully and scientifically demonstrated beyond cavil or argument in the British Army in India and the Boer War in 1898 and 1902 and in the United States Army and Navy more effectively than any other country and with a higher percentage of results, in fact that while camp or typhoid fever—during wars—formerly destroyed six persons to one that died from casualties in action, mortality from typhoid fever has now been reduced to almost nil in all armies and navies, and emphasizes the fact that vaccination is the only solution for actual prevention of typhoid fever.

Typhoid fever has been the bane of civilized communities for centuries, while the sacrifice of robust human life—between fifteen and thirty-five years—from this devastating disease is beyond computation. Some eminent German physicians, notably, Brunner and Peiper, as early as 1887, injected animals with living bacilli of typhoid and increased the immunity to the disease, but this form of vaccination with non-attenuated organisms was found to be dangerous when applied to man. Later a vaccine sterilized by heat in which all living subcutaneous injection was given, to be followed by two additional injections in like manner of 1,000,000,000 bacilli each, at intervals from six to ten days. The injection should be given in the early evening, the patient abstaining from excitement or alcoholic beverages and retiring early, appreciable reaction or temperature will be noticed only in from 1 to 3 per cent. of cases immunized, and should there be any attendant redness of the parts, with slight febrile reaction, a mild antipyretic will allay the slight systemic disturbance and the patient may proceed with his accustomed work or occupation.

EDITORIAL.

While there is a tendency in some quarters at the present time to condemn Governors of States who declare martial law and place their Commonwealths under military rule, it is not believed that the complaints of a few represent the sentiment of the American people generally. Ever since the establishment of the country, it has been a generally accepted policy that law and order must be upheld at all hazards, and this theory has been put into practice on numerous occasions since then. Every time, however, that a Governor has sought to protect his oath, to maintain the law, by calling out the militia in times of trouble, there are a few persons to rise and declare that the liberties of the people are being jeopardized by such precaution. As a matter of fact, the liberties of the people are protected against the license of a few. There can be no quibbling over this issue. The great purpose of the militia is to serve the nation and the State, and no greater service can be rendered than in insuring to the inhabitants of a Commonwealth that protection against mob rule. The questions of right or wrong in industrial disputes do not figure in any way in this issue. These must be determined otherwise. The matter of maintaining order is a duty absolutely placed upon a Governor when he accepts his office. If he does not propose to live up to his duty, he should never accept office. But once placed at the head of a State it is his sworn duty to protect the people from violence and to maintain law and order. A Governor who would not declare martial law in times of serious trouble would be a traitor to his oath and unworthy to continue in office.

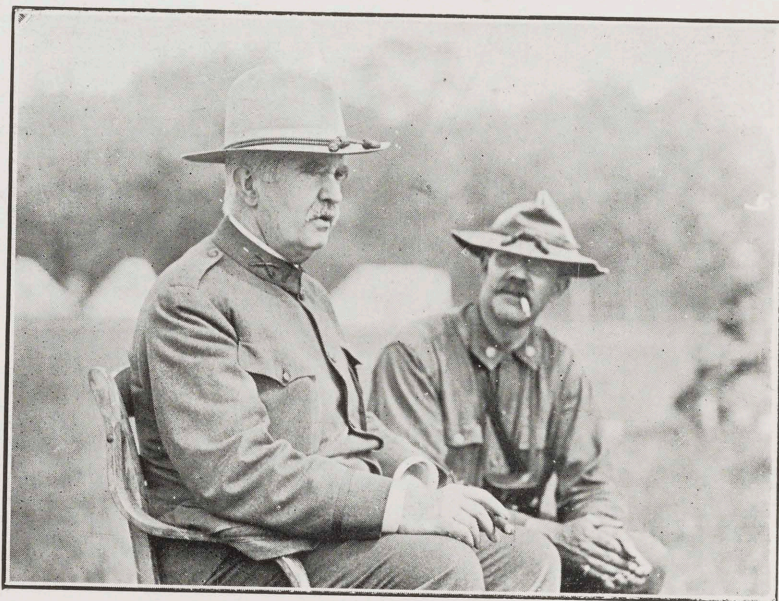

The Journal does not care to hazard a guess on what the State team will do. It is composed of good material and should do well, but there has been something radically wrong in the past few years and the best has not been gotten out of the team.

NOTES

Taking time by the forelock, Ensign Garnet S. Hulings, U. S. N., was married to Miss Selena Shumard Carden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Carden, of Dallas, Texas, in the Old First Presbyterian Church, at New York, on August 12. Ensign Hulings is a son of General Willis J. Hulings, of this State, and has a host of friends throughout the National Guard. He and his bride had planned to be married at Dallas late in the fall, for his battleship, the Utah, was going to drydock for overhauling until that time. However, the Navy Department changed its mind, and early in the month the ensign learned that he had less than two weeks in which to wed. The bride and her mother were in New York at the time, and the date was then rushed several months ahead. Despite the hurried conditions, the wedding was a fashionable one and given in truly naval style, the officers being attired in their full dress uniforms and the bridesmaids' dresses being trimmed in colors corresponding with those of the uniforms. After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Waldorf-Astoria.

General Albert J. Logan is being actively boomed for Mayor of Pittsburgh and it is very probable that he may be chosen for this position by the voters this fall. General Logan is one of the leading citizens of his home city and is thoroughly conversant with its conditions and needs. A man of universal executive ability and pleasing personality, he should make an unusually successful and popular Mayor.
